WHEN TO SEND THIS EMAIL

Send this email within 24–48 hours of your last day at the firm. Do it while the internship is still fresh in everyone's minds. This is one of the most underused tools in a law student's networking arsenal — most interns simply leave. A thoughtful thank-you note sets you apart immediately.

Variant A — Thank You to Your Supervising Partner or Senior Associate

Thank You — Internship at [Firm/Chamber Name]

EMAIL BODY

Dear [Mr./Ms. Last Name],

I wanted to write and thank you sincerely for having me as an intern at [Firm/Chamber Name] from [Start Date] to [End Date]. It was a genuinely formative experience.

Working on [mention 1–2 specific matters/tasks, e.g., the research memo on Section 138 NI Act / drafting pleadings for the NCLT matter] gave me a much clearer understanding of how [practice area, e.g., insolvency proceedings / commercial arbitration] works in practice, as opposed to how it reads in textbooks. I also learned a great deal simply from observing how you and the team approach client problems.

I hope to stay in touch, and I would be grateful if you kept me in mind for future internship opportunities or any part-time work as I progress through my degree.

Thank you again for your time and mentorship. I have already updated my Locus profile with this experience — if you are ever looking for strong interns, it is a good place to find them.

With gratitude,

EMAIL BODY

Dear [Name],

I wanted to thank you for all the help and coordination during my internship at [Firm/Chamber Name]. The onboarding was smooth and I felt well-supported throughout.

I would be grateful if the internship certificate could be issued at your earliest convenience. I had discussed this with [Supervising Partner/Associate Name] — please do let me know if any documentation from my end is needed.

Thank you again. I hope to have the opportunity to work with the firm again.

With regards,

TIPS FROM LOCUS BY LEXROOT

- Send Variant A to your direct supervisor — the partner, advocate, or senior associate you worked with most closely. If multiple people supervised you, send individual, personalised emails to each.
- Be specific in paragraph 2 — name a real matter or task. "I learned so much" is forgettable. "Working on the arbitration memo for the MSME dispute" is memorable.
- The mention of Locus in Variant A is optional but effective — it positions you as someone who is professional and forward-thinking about their career.
- If you want a recommendation letter or a LinkedIn endorsement, this is the right time to ask — do it gently at the end of Variant A.
- Do NOT send a thank-you email that reads like a form letter. If your supervisor can tell it was copy-pasted, it does more harm than good.
- Keep a copy of both emails sent, and log the interaction in your Internship Application Tracker (Resource #5) under the relevant firm entry.
