EMAIL BODY

Dear [Mr./Ms. Last Name],

My name is [Your Full Name], and I am a [Year, e.g. 3rd Year] student at [Your Law School Name and Location]. I am writing to express my interest in interning with [Firm/Chamber Name] in the area of [Practice Area, e.g., dispute resolution / corporate / IPR].

I have been following [Firm/Chamber Name]'s work closely, particularly [mention one specific case, deal, or published article the firm was involved in]. Your firm's approach to [specific aspect — e.g., cross-border arbitration / SEBI-related advisory / IP litigation] aligns with what I am actively developing expertise in, and I believe an internship with your team would be genuinely formative.

During my academic years, I have [briefly mention 1–2 relevant things: moot court experience / internship at X / research publication / relevant coursework]. I am comfortable with legal research, drafting, and taking on work that requires precision and attention to detail. I am available for an internship from [Start Date] to [End Date] (approximately [Duration, e.g., 4–6 weeks]).

I have attached my CV and a brief writing sample for your reference. I would be grateful if you could consider my application, and I am happy to share any additional documents — including an NOC from my institution — at your request.

Thank you for your time. I look forward to hearing from you.

Warm regards,

[Your Full Name]

TIPS FROM LOCUS BY LEXROOT

- Keep the email under 250 words. Partners and senior associates are busy — brevity is a signal of good writing.
- Always address a named person. "Dear Sir/Madam" is the fastest way to the trash folder. Look up the managing partner or the head of the relevant practice area on the firm's website or LinkedIn.
- Personalise paragraph 2 for every firm. Copying the same email to 30 firms is obvious. One specific detail per firm shows genuine effort.
- Send between Tuesday and Thursday, 9 AM to 11 AM. Avoid Mondays (inbox chaos) and Fridays (wind-down).
- Attach only a CV (max 2 pages) and optionally one short writing sample (1–3 pages). Do not attach certificates, marksheets, or photos unless asked.
- Use a professional email address — ideally your name (e.g., priya.sharma@gmail.com). An address like "coolgurl_99" will not help your application.
- Follow up once, after 7–10 working days, using the Follow-up Email Template (Resource #2).
